

June 3, 2003

The SkyWire

News, Announcements and Educational Information for Skyworks Employees

The Industry's Smallest GSM/GPRS PA Module with Integrated Power Control

Skyworks has expanded its family of GSM/GPRS integrated power control (iPAC)[™] power amplifier (PA) modules, with the addition of the industry's smallest 6mm x 8mm device. By integrating the power control function into the module, customers are able to accelerate time-to-market while saving as much as $1 per handset. This new PA also simplifies customer design activities and eliminates board space. To read the full press release, visit the Press Room on the Skyworks web site.

In Theaters Now: Our CDMA RF Subsystem

A lot of people are seeing the new movie "THE MATRIX RELOADED" -- it's breaking U.S. theater box office records. Showcased prominently in the film is Samsung's futuristic N270 phone, a special edition model designed to match the MATRIX motif. This dual-band, tri-mode collector's item features a full-color display, voice memo function, enhanced voice dialing, a pop-up earpiece and movie-inspired ring tones. What's inside of it? Skyworks' complete CDMA RF subsystem, of course.

It's Hip to Be a Fab

A Hollywood producer decided that the Skyworks factories in Newbury Park and Mexicali would be perfect backdrops for a music video of a song by The Postal Service, an up-and-coming U.S. band. And the Skyworks Operations Department agreed, allowing a film crew to capture actors performing fab work as well as equipment in operation. No one was more surprised at the hospitality than Ben Gibbard, one of the band's singers.

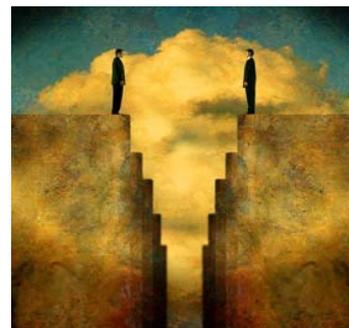

"I was convinced there was NO WAY an actual factory would allow a bunch of hooligans in to film a rock video," he stated. "Thus...I was astounded that they had been able to talk their way into the facility featured in the video."

Good thing the folks in Operations listened. The stylized video recently premiered on MTV, getting the Skyworks name and business in front of millions of viewers around the globe. The name of the video? "Such Great Heights" (talk about synergy). Go to <http://www.mtv.com/> and type "Such Great Heights" into the Search field to take a look at the Fabs as you've never seen them before. And feel free to pass the link along to your friends and family.

Avoiding the Pitfalls of Insider Trading Laws

When it comes to trading company stock and maintaining the confidentiality of Skyworks' material, non-public information, knowing what's expected of you is a matter of self-protection. The consequences of violating securities laws or leaking this type of information -- even if inadvertent -- can be detrimental to you and the company. To ensure compliance with these laws, the Board of Directors has adopted a new company policy detailing certain restrictions that apply to all employees. Visit Skylink, click on "Departments", then "Legal" and "Securities & Stock Admin" to read the policy or print it for later reference.

Also available on Skylink. For internal distribution only. For questions or comments, contact ed.mauss@skyworksinc.com or call VPN-231-4816.

The Skyworks Vision: To Be The Premier Supplier of Wireless Semiconductor Solutions